

Learner Profile

Our learner profile lays out five outcomes we expect our learners to develop over the course of nine years.

These outcomes include:

Confidence: A learner's ability to develop responsibility over their learning, handle setbacks, give and receive feedback and listen to and consider perspectives from their peers and others. See Example here. (link to information below)

Compassion: A learner's ability to understand and appreciate others. See Example here.

Content Literacy: A learner's ability to develop, relate, and apply knowledge and skills across a variety of content areas including English Language Arts, Mathematics, Social Studies, Science, Technology, Art, Music, Spanish, Physical Education. See Example here.

Collaboration: A learner's ability to give and receive accurate feedback, advocate and listen to the opinions and perspectives of others, and collectively problem solve. See Example here.

Creative Problem Solving: A learner's ability to find strategies to address problems that are ambiguous, cross different content areas, and often require seeking information and gaining feedback from others in the real world. See Example here.